Not illustrated. 1881 edition. Excerpt: ...I know not what it thinks or feels, So wholly is it rapt in Thine. No earthly beauty now can charm, No melody can soothe mine ear, Since in my inmost heart of hearts The music of Thy voice I hear. A little plant of heavenly love, Laden with most celestial fruit, Is now the food on which I live; It hath within my heart its root. And I have given all for all; And had I worlds on worlds to give,.Without a thought Id fling them hence To gain the love by which I live. And I have ceased to think and feel, To know and speak like other men, And all my cry is, Sweetest Lord, When shall I love Thee, Jesus, when? I do not love, tis all my grief; My heart is breaking with desire; Oh, come, my blessed Jesus, come, Light in my soul this heavenlyfire! FEAST OF ST. MICHAEL AND ALL ANGELS. Michael, glorious Prince of Angels, Noblest of the angelic ranks, Lowly singing in thine honour, Bring we now our meed of thanks. Mighty conqueror, bright and glorious, Next to Mary thou dost reign, Come and bless us with thy presence, Bring with thee thy angelic train. Gabriel, silver-tongued and glorious; Raphael, healer of our woes; Blessed Angels, guardians gentle,--Be our friends, repel our foes. Breathe into our hearts your sweetness, Flood our souls with love divine; May your glorious presence ever Round your charge protecting shine! We will honour, we will love you, Blessed spirits, ever more,--Our devotion still increasing, As your favours on us pour,--Till with you for ever singing, Singing in unending strain, God the Father, Son, and Spirit, Where the blessed ever reign. 90 THE ANGEL-GUARDIAN. THE ANGEL-GUARDIAN. My blessed Angel, gentle friend, How can I ever know One half of all the tender love You daily towards me show? Oh, never weary of...
